

Is Making Friends Necessary for Us?

By Sheryl Ng (4C)

Some people believe that friends are important. However, some think the opposite. In my opinion, having friends is necessary for us.

Firstly, friends give us emotional support. Many times in life, we feel that we need someone to help us get through a stressful situation. For example, when we feel down, our friends will listen to our problems. They will also try their best to comfort us too.

Besides, friends understand you well. As the phrase goes, birds of a feather flock together. We usually make friends with people of the same age and with similar interests. Friends can understand our problems well because they may have encountered similar difficulties and know what to do to get over it.

Furthermore, friends can motivate us. Friends support us and lend a helping hand to us when we are in need. Meanwhile, we can compare our shortcomings with them. In that case, we can learn from them as well.

In conclusion, friends are important people and roles in our lives. We should respect our friends and treasure the friendship we share.
